This corporation has been formed by men of long experience and of acknowledged ability in the advertising business.

President, Collin Armstrong, was for nearly twenty-five years financial editor of the New York Sun, and at that capacity established the reputation of the financial page of that newspaper, and thus logically built up its advertising patronage. He was the pioneer of college men in the advertising business, having been engaged in it for thirty years, and is widely conceded to be pre-eminent in the line of financial publicity. For the past years Mr. Armstrong was the treasurer and active manager of the advertising agency of Albert Frank & Co.

Mr. Armstrong's associates are Harry L. Cohen and Charles Hartner, who were connected with the Albert Frank & Co. advertising agency for twenty years.

BROADWAY THEATER.
"The Third Degree."
Charles Klein made fame and fortune by writing "The Lion and the Mouse." Henry B. Harris, who produced it, also made a fortune. Mr. Klein is the author of "The Third Degree," which Henry B. Harris will present at the Broadway Theater on Friday, November 12, for one performance. "The Lion and the Mouse" dealt with characters high in politics and speculative commerce. In "The Third Degree," the story is laid in New York and deals with men and women of the smart set and the methods of the police in wringing confessions from the criminal through the sweating process of the "third degree."

This play, while considerably younger, has already equaled the wonderful record of "The Lion and the Mouse," and abounds in fascinating situations, typical "Kleinsque" and unusual virility.

BROADWAY THEATER.
"The Volunteer Organizer."
The plot of William B. Greer's famous pastoral play, "The Volunteer Organizer," which is booked for the Broadway Theater on Saturday, November 12, revolves around a broad-minded young clergyman who falls in love with the tavern-keeper's daughter, and who, in order to win her, must first become a member of the church. The play is a love story in spite of all the petty annoyances and worries cast upon him by his congregation. The climax is reached when the organist and choir refuse to take part in the church services unless the young woman resigns from the choir. The minister calls for a volunteer organist, and a tramp, who has been hanging around the village for some time, responds to the invitation and plays. The tramp turns out to be a long-lost brother of the clergyman and happiness is meted out to all deserving of it, while the wicked are shown the error of their ways. Seats on sale at the box office, Wauregan house, and Pletcher & Service on Thursday, November 11, at 8 o'clock.

BREED THEATER.
"The Mystery of the Sleeper Trunk," Feature Picture.

Not content with the record-breaking business of the first three days of the week, Manager McNulty has in his bustling manner secured another great attraction that is bound to equal the great baseball success that were such a success. This time it is a smugger story and is entitled "The Mystery of the Sleeper Trunk." A romance of great merit is woven around the story of the "sleeper" trunk, a form of smuggling well known today, and the marvelous pictures of the custom house officials, taken while actually engaged in inspecting the trunks, coupled with the tremendous action required at the close of the picture, calls for the heartiest commendation.

Another great feature this week is the superb story of the sea, as portrayed by the brilliant Biograph cast. In this picture, which is taken in one of the quaintest of New England fishing villages, is seen a series of beach scenes that have never been excelled in motion picture photography, and in themselves are quite satisfying, even without the splendid action.

All feature reels comprise the programme this week, and the reputation of the theater for unequalled motion pictures will be well upheld for the balance of the week.

Forced Into Exile.
William Upchurch of Glen Oak, Oklahoma, was an exile from home.

Mountain air, he thought, would cure his frightful, lung-racking cough that had defied all remedies for two years.

After six months of exile, death seemed to be near. Then he heard of Dr. King's New Discovery, he writes, "and after taking six bottles I am as well as ever."

Dr. King's New Discovery cured him of his cough, and he is now a healthy man. He writes, "and after taking six bottles I am as well as ever."
